Drought alert

Threat of hosepipe ban, despite rain

By DAVID WATKINSON

People are being urged to halt any 'unnecessary' water use as an imminent hosepipe ban looks increasingly likely – despite heavy rain this week.

Just less than an inch of rain fell on Monday night, but another four inches are needed.

Drought procedures are being put in place in the North West by United Utilities, and the firm said people should cut down on water use immediately.

Measures including not running the tap when you brush your teeth, having shorter showers, and only switching on the dishwasher when it is full are being encouraged.

It follows a period of unprecedented dry weather in the region, leading to many reservoirs dropping below half full.

Most would be expected to be more than 80per cent full at this time of year.

Experts said a 'significant' amount of rain is needed within the next few days to avoid a hosepipe ban. United Utilities has applied to the Environment Agency for a drought permit. The permit will allow the company to continue to take water from reservoirs as they reach lower levels.

John Sanders, from United Utilities, said: "It's been an unprecedented period of dry weather since December and we need to take action now so we can tap into available water resources if the dry weather continues. Now, more than ever, we need people to use water wisely.

"We're monitoring the situation day by day, but if we don't have any significant rainfall by the end of this month we will need a hosepipe ban to help conserve essential supplies."

Bill Darbyshire, drought manager at the Environment Agency, said: "The situation in the North West is a reminder that water is a precious resource which we must all use more wisely."

Lives swap!

By EMMA CRUCES

Two men from very different communities swapped lives for the day, experiencing hijabs and family dogs for the first time, in a bid to break down barriers.

Darwen businessman John Sturgess and Blackburn community worker Faz Patel had never met before, but are firm friends after spending a day living each other's lives.

The two agreed to swap lives for the day, filming their experiences for You Tube, as part of a Blackburn with Darwen Council initiative to create understanding between different communities.

Faz, 30, who lives close to Blackburn town centre and has been awarded an MBE for his services to the community, said: "I thought white families don't spend time together and that white men are always in the pub. But it was really good how John's family go to parks and out walking.

"They also have a dog, which is something Asian families wouldn't have and I could see why it's important to them."

John, 47, who is chairman of the Darwen and Rural Neighbourhood Board, said: "I was really pleased by how open everyone was. I wanted to know why Latifah, Faz's wife wore a hijab and she told me it was her personal choice and that it is flexible. All the women I met were very independent, and people took a pride in their community."

Faz, who came up with the idea for the project, while watching Wifeswap, said: "I just felt the best way to understand people is to see how they live and break bread with each other."

ALL CHANGE: John Sturgess and Faz Patel switched for a day

Sculptures plan for woodland

Plans are in place to erect four new wooden sculptures at a Darwen beauty spot. The Friends of Sunnyhurst Wood are looking to get funding for the 6ft items to be placed on the Herbert Parkinson Nature Trail, which is used frequently by parties of school children.

Dennis Gillibrand, chairman of the Friends group, said: "Things like this can really add a new dimension to the woods."

Citizen In brief

Stay safe this summer time

A Stay Safe For Summer day will be held on Darwen Market Square on Saturday, July 10.

Between 10am and 2pm, the Summer Fun 4 All organisation has organised for members of emergency services to talk to children about personal safety.

There will also be a bungee run.

£140k job may be scrapped

Max Steinberg, the man who has spearheaded the area's housing regeneration since 2003, may not be replaced when he leaves his post, a council leader has hinted.

Tory Mike Lee, leader of Blackburn with Darwen Council, admitted there would be "no point" filling the £140,000-a-year post if the multimillion pound Housing Market Renewal fund is scrapped.

Fitness discount

People who sign up to the borough's Active Pledge Campaign are now able to use a discount card for bargain fitness sessions during certain hours.

Jack's whale of a time in Orlando!

By NAZIA PARVEEN

A six-year-old boy who was born with a life-shortening condition has been granted his wish — to meet a killer whale.

Jack Platt, from Blackburn, who suffers from cystic fibrosis, was whisked off with his family to Florida for the holiday of a lifetime.

On arriving in Orlando, Jack spent seven fun-filled days swimming with dolphins in Discovery Cove, enjoying the excitement of the rides in Disneyworld, relaxing on the beach and coming face to face with a killer whale at Seaworld.

Mum Deborah said: "It was just amazing. Jack loved meeting the killer whale and talks about it every day. Everything was perfect.

"Disney was brilliant and going swimming with dolphins was a really emotional experience for all of us."

Jack's once-in-a-lifetime trip is all thanks to the charity Starlight Children's Foundation, which helps make sick children's dreams come true.

He was diagnosed when he was born with the genetic disorder, which lines the lungs and digestive system with a sticky mucus.

As well as using nebulisers and breathing machines to keep his health stable, he must take a cocktail of drugs every day.

Deborah said: "His true love is killer whales after watching the film 'Free Willy', and as soon as we heard about Starlight, we instantly knew what Jack's wish would be to meet a real killer whale."

"Thank you so much Starlight, it was beyond our wildest dreams and a massive boost for Jack."

Martine Thorne, of Starlight, who organised the wish said: "We were delighted to be able to make Jack's wish to meet a killer whale come true."

Women rev-ved up to join clergy

By DAVID WATKINSON

More than half of all people applying to become a priest in East Lancashire are women, it has been revealed.

Church of England chiefs said the numbers of women priests was rocketing as a 'sense of balance' begins to show in the make up of church leaders.

Rev Dr John Darch, the Blackburn Diocese director of ordinance, said: "We have a lot of women coming through, in fact the majority of applicants now are women, around 60 per cent.

"Those who come to see me discuss their vocation, gender is irrelevant, but we would like to see more women as we want a balance."

The figures come as nine new deacons – including four women – were ordained at Blackburn Cathedral at the weekend.

Bishop of Blackburn, the Rt Rev Nicholas Reade completed the service on Saturday, while David Russell and Stephen Watkinson were ordained as priests in Padiham on Sunday.

Bishop Nicholas said: "At a time when we are eagerly looking for more stipendiary, and self-supporting priests and deacons, it's very thrilling to see 15 people being ordained."

OPEN FOR BUSINESS: Coun Peter Britcliffe and Coun Marlene Haworth officially open the refurbished Accrington Market Hall

A hall lot of new features!

Accrington's revamped market hall has been unveiled following a £2million makeover.

The refurbished market, complete with a new ground floor, stalls and balcony units was formally 'handed back' to Hyndburn Borough Council by contractors on Saturday. A ceremonial plaque was unveiled with festivities including a swing band to mark the occasion.

The historic building, which first opened in 1869 and cost £19,000 to build, was applauded at the time as being a 'living treasure of art'.

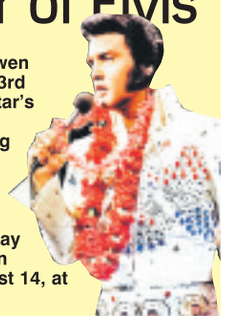
Its interior now has an up-to-date smart new look. On the ground floor some of the market stalls have been refurbished whilst older ones have been replaced with modern purpose-built units, aimed at blending with the traditional character of the Grade II listed building.

A new flexible use events and seating area has also been created and the original 1869 stone flooring flags exposed, repaired and brought back to their former glory.

Leader of the Council Coun Peter Britcliffe, said: "This really is a great day. The Market Hall really is a wonderful asset for the whole of the borough and a legacy for future generations."

Visitors were also treated to the sight of the new imposing central staircase to galleries, once used as reading rooms, which have been transformed into shops which will house small retail and other businesses as part of the 'No Limits' programme.

The wonder of Elvis



A night of Elvis tributes at Darwen Library Theatre will mark the 33rd anniversary of the legendary star's death.

The Wonder of Elvis is coming to the venue in August with winner of the Porthcawl Elvis Festival, Paul Molloy, Elvis band Red Alert and backing singers Viva Vegas Girls with Jay Ashton – as seen at the London Palladium – on Saturday, August 14, at 7.30pm.

SKIP TO THE BEAT: PC Graham Davies with PCSO Alex Knowles and PC Caroline Lanciotti

HIGHLIGHTS OF GRAHAM'S CAREER

- First call-out was to reports of 'horses straying on Manor House Lane'
- First arrest was a man driving through the No Entry sign at Darwen market
- Last arrest was a shoplifter on Friday in Blackburn town centre
- Memorable arrests include locking up a group of shoplifters from Liverpool in 1996 - with help from Blackburn shoplifters who said 'Leave Graham alone, he's okay'

The end of the thin blue line!

By SAM CHADDERTON

A beat bobby who clocked up more than 2,000 arrests during his 30 years of service has retired.

According to official computer records, PC Graham Davies, from the Blackburn town centre team made 1,526 arrests in the past 14 years, but the total is more like 2,000 throughout a career locking up the town's criminals.

Graham, 53, who lives in Darwen, joined the Constabulary on June 23 1980 working as a foot patrol officer in Darwen before moving to Blackburn in October 1985.

He spent the majority of his service patrolling Blackburn and working primarily in the town centre.

Graham also worked on the Toxteth riots in 1981 and the miners strikes in 1983. He said: "I saw an advert to join the police in the newspaper on Boxing Day in 1979 and thought I'd give it a try.

"I never would have thought I would still be here 30 years later.

"One of my most memorable experiences was when I chased a Golf GTI from Blackburn to Bolton town centre in a one-litre Metro and caught him.

"I have loved my time working in Blackburn. It's been a challenging but fantastic career and I will be sad to go."

Town centre Sergeant Alan Clayton said: "He had the highest arrest rate in the division last year and that speaks volumes for him.

"He'll be sorely missed in the town centre by us, the public and even the criminals. He had a rapport with them and was very fair – they knew that."

Chief Superintendent Bob Eastwood said: "PC Davies epitomises the local bobby. For the past 30 years he has been a well known and influential police officer.

"He should be proud of his service. He will be missed by his colleagues and we wish him well for the future."

Patrols crack down on park nuisance

Police have launched a crackdown on anti-social behaviour in Queen's Park, Blackburn. Officers said they have increased foot patrols and dispersed groups, as well as seizing alcohol during the recent sunny weather.

Report a tribute to late head Lynn

A successful Ofsted inspection has been dedicated to a headteacher who died in September. Darwen Vale High was classified as 'good'. It was 'satisfactory' three years ago. Interim head John Lawson paid tribute to his predecessor Lynn Dunning, who died after a long battle with cancer. He said: "The report is a tribute to the work of Lynn Dunning and an excellent welcome present for the new head, Hilary Torpey, who begins in September."

Summer party

The next meeting of Blackburn and East Lancs breast care support group will be a summer party, with a Jacob's Join, at Beardwood Hospital, Preston New Road, on Tuesday, from 7pm to 9pm.

15 firms make base better for first aiders

By CATHERINE PYE

Fifteen firms have rallied round to stop Darwen's rotting St John Ambulance station from falling down.

The charity faced moving and losing members as no money was available to pay for repairs to the wooden building, in George Street, which has been used by child and adult volunteers for training and meetings since 1964.

The situation was so critical the group needed to act 'before the building fell down'.

Determined the station should stay in the town, members set out to attract help from businesses.

And they have been 'overwhelmed by the generosity' after materials worth thousands of pounds were given for free.

Divisional superintendent Ellie Langford said: "The work was sorely needed.

"The station desperately needed doing up. Paint was flaking off and it was rotting in places.

"It really wasn't giving a good impression to people.

"But now it stands out so lovely, although the work isn't quite finished yet.

"We have been amazed and astounded by the generosity of people who have given their time, and the materials, including wood, nails, putty, sealant and undercoat."

One member said: "It goes to show that Darwen is still the public-spirited town it was always known as being. Moving might have meant us losing members because people don't want to travel.

"And it's not always easy for parents of young children who come to the badgers and cadets sessions to make it to another station."

The companies which helped were: Bensons Timber, Gibsons Ironmongers, Crown Paints, Holdex Timber, Jas Timber, Howarth Timber, Travis Perkins, Dulux Decor Centre, Tagg Decor Centre, A1 Skips Hire Ltd, Rightway, Metex Darwen Ltd, Mobile Mini, Jacks Hardware and Bespoke Complete Services.

Battle for best gardens

Green-fingered Hyndburn residents will compete to be named the best in the borough.

Social landlord Hyndburn Homes is calling on its thousands of tenants, as well as other Hyndburn residents, to make the area brighter by launching its 2010 Gardening Competition.

Even residents without a garden can join in some of the categories, which include best front garden, best back garden, best community garden, and best hanging basket, tub or window box.

Organiser Paula Shrigley said: "These competitions are not exclusively concerned with Hyndburn Homes residents. Encouraging people to grow flowers and shrubs will also benefit the wider communities as everyone admires a well-tended garden, or a beautiful hanging basket."

Each category winner will receive £50, with the overall winner getting £250 in gardening vouchers. Phone for an entry form on 01254 300500, or visit www.hyndburnhomes.co.uk to download one.

Dunn is Rover the moon to front new Youth Zone!

By NAZIA PARVEEN

Blackburn Rovers star David Dunn has become an ambassador for the town's multi-million pound new youth centre.

And the hometown hero visited the site of the project in Blackburn town centre for a kickabout with youngsters where he showed off his Premier League skills.

The car park off Jubilee Street, as well as former council offices, will be transformed into the futuristic Blackburn Youth Zone in the fourth quarter of 2011.

Subject to planning permission, it will include a football pitch on the roof, a sports hall, boxing gym, fitness centre, arts and craft zone, dance studio, recreation area and accommodation for advice and support services. The centre will be based on the Bolton Lads and Girls Club blueprint and its 'social work' aspect, with volunteers reaching out to youngsters to keep them on the straight and narrow.

It is estimated that 3,000 children will attend the centre every week.

> It is great they'll have somewhere safe to go and have fun
> DAVID DUNN

GOAL TO HELP: Rovers player David Dunn during a visit to the new youth centre site

Dunn, 30, a Rovers fan who grew up in Great Harwood, said: "There are more and more children hanging around on the streets with nothing to do. It is great that they will have somewhere safe to go and have fun. I never had anything like it when I was a kid.

"I hope that other communities will follow suit because, if this helps just one young person from becoming an alcoholic, doing drugs or misbehaving then it is worth it."

Dunn said he also hoped the complex would be a breeding ground for future Rovers players.

Chairman of the project Andrew Graham, boss of wallpaper firm Graham and Brown, said: "David is the perfect person to be an ambassador as he is a local guy made good who is a role model."

Citizen Time

It'll be strictly 'amazing' tour

Kelly Rowland is one of the judges on The Fashion Show, which can be seen on Really (Sky 248, Virgin TV 267) at 8pm daily until June 25. She was born in Atlanta, Georgia in 1981, and rose to fame as part of girl group Destiny's Child. Her new single Commander was released this week.

60 SECONDS WITH ... KELLY ROWLAND

TELL US ABOUT THE FASHION SHOW
It starts with 15 designers who want to win the competition to be the next big thing, and of course an opportunity for big money.

WOULD YOU EVER WEAR ONE OF THE HANDMADE DRESSES FEATURED ON THE SHOW?
If it were done right, of course, but it's so funny to have watched them put together the dress in an hour. I'm watching their faces when we say: "You have to make this into a little black dress... in an hour", and how they freak out, and how some of them rise to the challenge and some kind of suffered a little bit.

DOES THE SHOW TRANSLATE FOR BRITISH VIEWERS?
Definitely. Everyone can even try some of the challenges themselves. I remember going with some of my friends and trying the little black dress and we all screwed up [laughs].

HOW HARD WAS IT WORKING ON YOUR NEW SINGLE, COMMANDER?
It was very easy to record. Rico Love, who I had the opportunity to work with, he wrote half the record. He and I had the best chemistry in the studio. I was so happy that there's been such good feedback on it.

Clocking up miles

ANNA MANSELL spoke to Craig Reid, one half of The Proclaimers, about life on the road, before the brothers park up in Preston

ON TOUR: The Proclaimers, Craig and Charlie Reid, with their band

Five hundred miles must seem like a small distance to Scottish twins The Proclaimers these days, as their life on the road is pretty much non-stop.

And with a cult following – thanks in large part to the fantastically-funny 2007 Comic Relief version of 500 Miles with Peter Kay's Brian Potter and Little Britain's Andy – the duo are in regular demand.

So far, this year's tour has taken the duo and their band around the UK and Europe, with a recent trip to America also under their belts.

And they've become regulars on festival line-ups around the country and overseas.

"The amount of festivals in Britain and other places has grown massively in the last decade," said Craig, 48.

"We were doing them before Comic Relief, but live music has peaked at the moment with the recession. But there are more and more places to play and more and more festivals."

Although most people only know the Leith-born brothers, Craig and Charlie, for the hits 500 Miles and Letter from America, they have released an impressive eight studio albums. The most recent Notes and Rhymes was released last year, which coincided with their busiest year on the road to date.

"We have been touring relentlessly for the last few years. Last year was huge. This spring and summer we are doing Europe, the UK and the US until July, then we will do some more writing for an album next year."
